

Dr. James Lopresti envisioned a nonprofit agency where high-quality mental health and social services were accessible to LGBTQ+ individuals, regardless of their ability to pay. He worked hard to ensure the board and staff were comprised of people from the communities they set out to serve. In 2002, Dr. Lopresti formed the board of directors for Sunshine Social Services, Inc., also known as SunServe. The rest, as they say, is history.

SunServe's mission has always been to help the most vulnerable LGBTQ+ individuals in South Florida. We provide mental healthcare, life coaching, case management, and social services regardless of economic resources. For the past two decades, SunServe has been the gold standard in LGBTQ+ competent care for youth, adults, and seniors that often fall through the cracks of traditional service providers. Our programs have been recognized for their innovation and effectiveness.

On any given day, you can find a life coach or therapist engaging with a young person who has little to no support at home and now feels pride instead of shame. You can share a meal with a room full of seniors while they enjoy camaraderie and activities instead of sitting home alone. You can witness a sense of relief come across a young mother's face who avoids eviction. You can see the joy when a client shares their 60-day sobriety story in a substance use support group. You can be there when a transgender person shares a new driver's license with the name and gender to which they identify.

Will you be our partner and help make certain we can continue to provide not only help but hope to those who need and deserve quality care? Will you help fund our work so at-risk LGBTQ+ individuals receive critical assistance regardless of their socioeconomic status?
